23 TASH HEPTING, et al. v. AT&T CORP.,
 24 No. C-06-0672-VRW

MDL Dkt. No. 06-1791-VRW

RESPONSE OF AT&T CORP. TO HEPTING PLAINTIFFS'
 ADMINISTRATIVE MOTION TO RELATE JEWEL TO HEPTING
 [Docket Nos. 383-84]

[Civ. L.R. 3-12(e)]

Courtroom: 6, 17th Floor
 Judge: Hon. Vaughn R. Walker

1 This is the response of AT&T CORP. (“AT&T”) to the “Administrative Motion by
2 Plaintiffs to Consider Whether Cases Should Be Related; Declaration of Kevin Bankston,”
3 MDL Docket No. 383, filed Oct. 21, 2008.

4 Jewel is a case brought solely against the federal government and various
5 government officials. Hepting is a case brought solely against AT&T and its parent
6 (although the federal government intervened to assert the state secrets defense).

7 Jewel asserts 17 claims, at least nine of which do not appear in Hepting. Hepting
8 asserts seven claims, only three of which appear in Jewel. (The numbers do not add up
9 because some legal theories asserted as one count in Hepting appear in as many as four 10 counts in Jewel.) Despite some “subject matter” overlap, the two cases raise different legal 11 issues and may be met by very different defenses.

12 AT&T does not object to relating Jewel to Hepting so long as relating the two cases
13 does not affect in any way the Court’s briefing schedule (MDL Docket No. 381) for 14 dispositive motions pursuant to the FISA Amendments Act of 2008, Pub. L. No. 110-261.
15 The principal purpose of Title II of the FISA Amendments Act is to achieve a prompt
16 dismissal of cases such as Hepting filed against carriers. It would frustrate congressional
17 intent to let a procedural device such as a related-case motion delay the Court’s
18 consideration of dispositive motions filed pursuant to the FISA Amendments Act.

19 Dated: October 23, 2008.
